On February 6, 2008, Judge White referred this matter to Early Neutral Evaluation ("ENE"). The parties (defendant Spherion Atlantic Enterprises, LLC and Plaintiff Valerie Watson-Smith) were initially assigned a deadline of May 8, 2008 to complete the ENE. The parties held a pre-ENE telephone conference with assigned evaluator Sandra McCandless on May 5, 2008. During the pre-ENE telephone conference, the parties and the evaluator discussed the status of this pending action, and the fact that there were ongoing discovery disputes regarding the scope of the putative classes in the action. Evaluator McCandless voiced her concern that proceeding with the ENE at this stage of the litigation may not be beneficial to the parties due to the pending disputes and uncertainty regarding the scope of the putative classes. The parties and Ms. McCandless agreed that it would be more beneficial to continue the deadline for completing the ENE for six additional months so the parties would be in a better position to analyze their respective positions and prepare for the evaluation. Ms. McCandless suggested, and the parties agreed, that the parties should request that the Court continue the deadline for completing the ENE six months. On May 12, 2008, the Court extended the deadline to November 7, 2008.

On October 24, 2008, the parties and Ms. McCandless held a second pre-ENE telephone conference. As with the previous conference, the parties and Ms. McCandless agreed that due to the case's posture, the ENE at this stage of the litigation would not be beneficial to the parties. Specifically, due to the pending Motion to Amend the Pleadings and Motion to Compel currently before the court, the parties and Ms. McCandless agreed that the parties should request that the Court continue the deadline for completing the ENE for four additional months.

On February 4, 2009, the parties and Ms. McCandless held a third pre-ENE telephone conference. As with the previous two conferences, the parties and Ms. McCandless agreed that due to the case's posture, the ENE at this stage of the litigation would not be beneficial to the parties. Once again, due to the pending Motion for Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint currently before the court, the parties and Ms. McCandless agreed that the parties should request
